When I first started to design my font i wanted to create a typeface that reflected on my handwriting. I realized that the program was fairly limited so i decided to go with a more geometric approach. It still contains slight characteristics from my handwriting such as the serif forms and sharpness the letters have. I had difficulty with the w, v, and y because i wanted them to have slanted lines but they were wider than the rest of the letters. Overall i feel the font is consistant and fits with my personality.
